

Final Practicum Projects

At the conclusion of the Leadership Cohort, each participant will complete two supervised practicums designed to move learning from the classroom into real ministry.

Practicum One: Teaching God's Word

Each participant will be assigned a biblical text and coached through the process of studying, preparing, and teaching that passage in an existing Bible class. Following that experience, each participant will be paired with an experienced teacher and given the opportunity to teach a lesson from an approved curriculum in a different ministry setting. Throughout the process, participants will receive coaching and constructive feedback designed to strengthen their ability to faithfully communicate God's Word.

The purpose of this practicum is not simply to evaluate teaching ability but to help participants discover whether God has gifted and called them to teach. Some may pursue opportunities as substitute or regular Bible teachers, while others may discover that their gifts are better suited to another area of leadership. Every participant will leave with greater clarity regarding how God has uniquely equipped them to serve His church.
